Professor T. Trotter,
71 Bismarck Avenue,
Toronto.

My dear Professor Trotter:

It was very kind of you to write me on the 3rd of June. I am glad to know that you agree with our endeavour to make Eastern Canada a training ground for the students from the West. It seems to me to be a large patriotic duty. I will speak to Professor Alexander about the possibility of having graduate work done in English next winter. I am persuaded that we have men in Toronto who can give a thoroughly good course in English. I congratulate you on having two sons so much interested in literary matters. We need more of that kind in Canada just at present.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.
